

The Adair County News

VOLUME XVII

COLUMBIA, ADAIR COUNTY, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 14, 1914.

NUMBER 50

In Honor of Mrs. Todd.

Last Thursday afternoon at Lindsey-Wilson, Miss Rose Heyd, assisted by the other lady members of the faculty and Mrs. Moss, delightfully entertained with a picnic in honor of Mrs. Robert Todd, who had formerly been expression teacher in that institution of learning. The guests were received in Miss Heyd's class room which was artistically decorated in cut flowers, the color scheme being green and yellow.

The elaborate lunch was served from a long table beautifully decorated and lighted with candles.

After the lunch was served the guests were invited upstairs to the music studio, where a short but very interesting program, consisting of vocal solos by Mrs. Hurt and Miss Hoggard, piano solo by Miss Hewitt, and readings by Miss Chandler were rendered.

About thirty-five guests were present, and each pronounced this gathering to be one of the most pleasant of the season.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

ADAIR CIRCUIT COURT OF KENTUCKY.

C. W. Young & etc., Pltff. vs. Chas. Montgomery & etc., Def.

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of Sale of Adair Circuit Court, rendered at the September Term, thereof, 1914, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Columbia, Ky., to the highest bidder, at Public Auction, on Monday the 2nd day of Nov., 1914, at one o'clock p. m., or thereabout (being County Court,) upon a credit of six months the following described property, to-wit: Two certain tracts of land situated in Adair County, Ky., on the waters of Glensfork and Cedar Creek and consists of two tracts of land, which is described as follows: The first tract contains 130 acres more or less. The 2nd tract contains 18 acres be the same more or less. Both tracts are fully described by maps and bounds in the Judgment and Order of sale, which is of record in Order Book No. 14, Page 272 to which reference is made for particulars, in the office of the Clerk of the Adair Circuit Court. Said two tracts of land will first be offered separately, and then both together, and the bid or bids will be accepted that will produce the most money. For the purchase price, the purchaser, with approved surety or securities, must execute Bond, bearing legal interest from day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a Judgment. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms. W. A. Coffey, Master Commissioner.

School Rally at Antioch.

On account of rain the Rally held by Division No. 2, did not carry out the program in full.

The displays were fine, but the athletics were cut short on account of the rain. There was a very good crowd, most all of the schools of the Division being represented. High-step school won the highest number of first premiums; Keltner second highest; and Antioch third highest; Firkin and Ricketson tied on fourth highest number of firsts, the former having more seconds than the latter. Breeding, Harmony, and Hunter tied on fifth number of firsts. All the schools present deserve praise for good work rendered.

We were all disappointed on account of Superintendent Huffaker not being present.

I have purchased the barber shop formerly conducted by Mr. G. W. Lowe. I am prepared to give good service and will appreciate the patronage of the many who have been patronizing this shop. Call when you need work. Yours Truly, Asa Loy.

Melton Mansfield and Louie Pace were indicted in the Barren circuit court for conspiracy to murder the late Robert T. Thurman, who was the city marshal of Glasgow. A special term was set for last Monday to try the case. The defendants gave notice that they would move for a change of venue. The motion was overruled and the trial commenced.

Mr. Alfred Sneed and Miss Ada Smith were married in the County Clerk's office last Thursday morning by Judge Herriford. After the ceremony the couple joined hands and smilingly left the room. The father of the boy contributed to Judge Herriford a coin of the realm for starting the enterprise.

Opasums are ripe and up to this time a few fat ones have been caught.

Sanitary Canvass of the County.

Dr. J. S. Lock, member of the State Sanitary Board, was here last week. His visit was to perfect arrangements whereby the health conditions of Adair county could be benefitted. It is the intention of the Board to canvass the counties of the State and to see that they are put in a better sanitary condition, to stamp out the hook-worm, typhoid fever and consumption. These are all preventative diseases, and proper precautions will eradicate them. It requires some money to pay expenses of a canvass, and Dr. Lock, after delivering a very interesting lecture to Fiscal Court, showing how these diseases could be removed from the county, asked for appropriation of two hundred dollars to assist in defraying expenses. This proposition was not voted, but later the Court made an appropriation of one hundred and fifty dollars and Dr. Lock added fifty dollars to that amount, which will be paid from a fund in his hands, and in one week from to-day the Canvass will commence. Dr. U. L. Taylor will accompany the canvassing board, and every school district in the county will be visited.

There is not a doubt but this board is doing a grand, humane work in its efforts to stamp out disease, and it is the general opinion that the Fiscal Court did the proper thing when it voted the appropriation.

LATER:—Thursday morning the court re-considered its vote and the proposition failed.

A CALL

Modern Woodmen.

A call meeting for conferring degrees in the Modern Woodman Lodge is called for Monday night, Oct. 19th, 1914. All M. W. A's in good standing are earnestly requested to be present. J. C. Strange, Clerk

Basket Ball.

Last Saturday evening the Lindsey-Wilson basket ball team engaged the Jamestown team, the game being played in the gymnasium. It was fast from the start and much excitement reigned throughout. At the finish the score card showed 33 to 19 in favor of the Lindsey-Wilson.

The residents of Columbia were very much disappointed last Friday evening. The Sparksville string band was billed to give a musical at the court-house and all arrangements had been made by local friends. It rained during the day and only three of the musicians put in an appearance, and the entertainment was called off to the regret of the town. It may be that another date will be announced and if so, the Sparksville troupe may rest assured that it will be given a rousing audience.

Prices on Coffee Reduced.

Monarch (fresh roasted) 19c.
None better.

49-1f. Russell & Co.

Mr. Lawrence Rousseau, formerly of Glasgow, a Gentleman well-known in this part of Kentucky where he worked insurance for a number of years, and Mrs. Sadie Williams Brewer were married in the Highland Park Presbyterian church, Louisville, on the 7th of this month. The Pastor, Rev. T. M. Hawes officiated. The couple will reside in Louisville. At present, they are on a bridal tour in the East.

Mr. Robert E. Woods, of Louisville, who is a member of the Good Roads Association of Kentucky, made an interesting talk here last Thursday. At the conclusion quite a number took membership, paying $5 each. Kentucky is sadly in need of better roads, especially this section, and Mr. Woods is endeavoring to bring about substantial interest.

Dr. Frank Cheek, of Danville, delivered two strong and interesting sermons at the Presbyterian Church last Sunday. He is a speaker of force, holding his hearers from start to the close.

Smith & Conover's new mill, near the square, will be completed and ready for operation in a short time. It is a large three story building, plenty room for storing grain. New machinery will also be installed, making it an up-to-date flouring mill.

Prof. A. H. Ballard was appointed by the Fiscal Court to make the settlement with the Sheriff for 1914. This settlement will be submitted to the Court at the October term.

The advance in price of everything that affects the cost of publishing a paper leaves no room for a dollar loss in the subscription. We are compelled to receive pay for every paper or advance the subscription price to $1.50 per year, and more than likely will do both within a very short time. The News can not exist on promises to pay—it must receive what it earns. Thousands of dollars are justly due this office and to be plain we want what is due. Many statements have been mailed and but few have sent in the pay. THE TIME TO CLEAN UP HAS COME. If you fail to receive your paper you may know that you lose by not paying. It matters not how much money or property you have, or how good your credit is, we are compelled to collect and will begin the clearance of our books at once. If you have received a statement no other notice is necessary. Where the paper is discontinued we will expect every one to square on our books just the same, and if not done within a reasonable time will use the most effective agency for collection. This notice outlining the methods we are compelled to adopt should receive hearty response from every one who really desires The News. Justice and honesty should prompt every one to settle arrearage and not force us to use legal methods to get our just dues.

As foreign as it is from the policy of this office, as much as we dislike to inconvenience many who read the paper and promise to pay we can not continue longer to run on promises and hope. Take notice and act accordingly.

Series of Meetings.

Eld. Z. T. Williams, assisted by Eld. W. G. Montgomery, will begin a series of meetings at the Christian Church, this city, next Monday night.

Miss Kate Warren, of Liberty, will lead the singing. She has a melodious voice, as is known to a great many Columbians, and has led the song service in a number of protracted meetings. She will be assisted by the best singers of town.

Eld. Montgomery is a strong preacher and is a very successful revivalist.

Notice.

In order to accommodate the trade, we wish to ask customers to call during the week for Hair cutting at 15c. Saturday Prices will be 25c to All. We are forced to do this in order to accommodate the trade.

Ten Dollar Prize.

Will you please have inserted in your local paper the announcement that Attorney General James Garnett offers to the teacher in Adair county who teaches the best moonlight school a prize of $10 in gold. Any teacher who has not yet started a moonlight school, may begin late and win this prize.

With kindest regards and best wishes, I am sincerely,
Cora Wilson Stewart.

For Sale.

Eggs Wanted.

We will pay 20c per dozen for eggs this week.

The Stewards of the Columbia district, M. E. Church, South, met in the Methodist Church, this place, last Wednesday. The object of the meeting was to arrange to raise a sufficient fund to pay the preachers and to meet other expenses for the ensuing year. At the dinner hour the Stewards and a few ministers were entertained by Presiding Elder W. F. Hogard.

An order for 4,500 cavalry horses and mules was placed with St. Louis, Mo., dealers last week by representatives of the French Government. This order which is to be filled within ten days will cost France approximately $700,000. Eight representatives of the French Government at St. Louis, declare they were authorized to buy 100,000 horses at an expenditure of about $12,000,000.

Workmen will finish putting in waterworks fixtures at the two dormitories of the Lindsey-Wilson in a very few days.

Public Sale.

Having sold my farm at Knifley, Ky., with the intention of going to Georgia the first of the year, I now offer for sale at the same place, on Saturday, Oct. 17, the following property:

Ten Head of Cattle
One 3-year-old mule
One 2-year-old mare
One New Rubber Tire cut-under Buggy.

Farm Wagon and other Farm Implementations.

Also Household and Kitchen Furniture.

Terms made known on day of Sale. S. H. Knifley, Auctioneer.

W. L. Russell, Knifley, Ky.

The above sale was postponed from Saturday Oct. 10th till Saturday Oct. 17th.

The Bandy Singers appeared at the court-house last Thursday evening and were greeted by a very fair audience. The singing of the little girl, seven years old, was appreciated, and the sum of money she collected from the audience was cheerfully given Prof. Hill and his children were present and took part in several selections. Prof. Bandy has the reputation of being a very melodious singer, and we would not doubt his talent in this line, but upon this occasion he was certainly indisposed, as his singing did not come up to his reputation. It is often that a singer's voice is cut of commission.

Messrs. McFarland & Feese and a crew of hands are getting along with Dr. B. F. Taylor's residence, on Burkesville street, as rapidly as weather conditions will permit. It will be large, roomy, and a very attractive home, a credit to the locality where it is situated. It will be occupied by Dr. Taylor and his son, Dr. James Taylor, who will come to Columbia to practice their profession.

Wanted.

A man to sell and collect in Adair county, good pay permanent employment. Address
Singer Sewing Machine Co.,
Campbellsville, Ky.

50-2t.

Mr. G. W. Lowe has decided not to leave Columbia and will, in a very short time, open a shoe store in the building on the north side of the square, now occupied by Mr. M. C. Winfrey. He takes over Mr. Winfrey's stock of groceries which he will sell at wholesale price at once. He proposes to handle only the best and up-to-date brands of ladies and gent's shoes. Mrs. Lowe will be the saleslady in the store. An ad will appear in the News later, giving particulars.

At the session of Fiscal Court, held last week, Mrs. Ermine Leach was re-elected poor-house keeper. Dr. S. P. Miller was re-elected jail physician and Mrs. Nell & Simmons were elected poor-house physicians. Mrs. Leach's contract is to board the subjects for $1.25 per week. The jail physician is to receive $50.00 per year, and the poor-house physicians the same sum.

Eld. W. B. Taylor closed a meeting at Mt. Pleasant last Thursday night with three additions to the Church by baptism. Two were restored. Saturday night he commenced a meeting at Hebron near the residence of Mr. W. B. Rowe.

Quarterly court is in session.

Notice to Teachers and Patrons.

The newly adopted school books are now on sale at Mr. W. I. Ingram's in Columbia, at Mr. Lee Chelf's at Knifley, at Mr. J. R. Tutt's, in Milltown, and J. P. Miller's at Crocus. Mr. Ingram has a good supply of nearly all the books, and will order more as they are needed. The school law requires the patrons to provide their children with these newly adopted books. The Superintendent, the trustees, the county board, are all required to see that these books are introduced into the schools and used to the exclusion of all other text books. Any of these officials may be fined for allowing any other book to be used in the schools after the new can be had. The fine varies from ten to fifty dollars. The teachers are required to teach as texts, only the new books. They are liable to the same penalty for violating the law as any school official. Suits are being instituted in some localities against teachers who refuse to introduce the new books. There is no option in this matter. It is simply a matter of law. Teachers run the risk of losing their salaries if they do not require their patrons to procure the new books. I am not responsible for the situation. I did not make the law or the adoption, but I must be a law-abiding man in my official capacity.

Patrons will please secure the new books at once, and teachers will cease to use the old ones. Patrons will please remember that the exchange of old books can be made only during this school year, which ends June 30, 1915.

Garnett's Report.

The third biennial report of the Attorney General of Kentucky, which is just off the press and being sent out by Attorney General James Garnett, is a most interesting volume of 963 pages that reflects much credit on the head of the State legal department and his efficient force. The report should have been distributed earlier in the year, but on account of the volume of printing caused by the session of the General Assembly the printing of the report was somewhat delayed.

It is an interesting compilation, showing that Mr. Garnett's work has been well done. In the report, Gen. Garnett pays a high tribute to his assistants and office staff, M. M. Logan, Chas. H. Morris, O. S. Hogan, R. T. Caldwell and D. T. Myatt.

Notice.

All who are in need of a new wagon bed, or dressed lumber to make a new bed, call at J. M. Kearns' Machine Shop before you buy. Give him a call on any thing you need in the repair line.
49-3t. J. M. Kearns.

Next Monday the Russell circuit court opens at Jamestown, and it is expected a very large number of the yeomanry of the county will be in attendance. A News man will be on the public square a portion of the first week, and will take pleasure in waiting upon all patrons of this office. There are quite a number of friends who are behind on our subscription book, and we urge them to be ready to settle. We also want many new subscribers, and would be thankful if they would come in scores.

We take this opportunity to extend a cordial invitation to the ministers of the town and their members to attend the revival meeting at the Christian church beginning next Monday evening at 7 o'clock p. m. Also a special invitation to all the singers in the town to assist in song service to be led by Miss Kate Warriner, of Liberty.

Russell Creek Baptist Association for next year will be held at Columbia in the month of October. The exact date will be given in due time. The one just closed in Green county was a most profitable and interesting meeting. Many very encouraging reports were made, and a number of strong sermons delivered.

Rev. J. S. Chandler exhibited at this office, Monday, a hen egg, gathered at his home, almost as large as a turkey egg. We do not remember of ever seeing a hen egg of such dimensions.

The Church Board has decided not to have the New Baptist church dedicated on the fourth Sunday. Another date will be given in due time.

Russell Creek Association.

The 510th annual session of this association was held with the Beech Grove Baptist Church, Green county, October 7th and 8th.

H. S. Robinson, of Campbellsville, was re-elected Moderator and E. H. Henderson, of Thurlow, re-elected Clerk.

The introductory sermon was preached by Rev. O. P. Bush, of Columbia, Ky., from Heb. 4th c. 12-13 vs. It was a faithful, forcible and clear exposition of the text. Pastor Bush showed himself both an exegete and a teacher. It was enjoyed by all who love truth.

Secretary F. D. Perkins, of the Baptist Educational Society, was given a special place on the program after dinner of the first day and made a telling speech on Baptist Schools as denominational assets.

He stated that the Baptists in Russell Creek Association had great cause to be proud of their undertaking this year in raising thirty thousand dollars for Russell Creek Baptist Academy. That the Association had surpassed anything done in the State this year. He spoke of the day when all real Baptist schools must come to be a real denominational asset. That in their function to give totality education. That is, education of mind, soul and body of the child. All three are God-given and must be kept for the Master's use.

The Trustees of the Russell Creek Baptist Academy reported that they had raised this year in round numbers, thirty thousand dollars for the indebtedness and endowment fund of the school. They also reported that they had purchased 52 acres of land adjacent to the school, where industrious boys may find employment in earning their board and tuition, and where a scientific course in agriculture will be taught. There was great enthusiasm over this report.

The courches gave this year $537.28 for Home Missions; $216.17 for State Missions; $411.90 for District Missions. This is far better financial report than for previous years.

The doctrinal sermon was preached by pastor L. C. Kelley from the text "Thou shalt not muzzle the ox that treadeth out the corn." For the laborer is worthy of his hire." Subject Pastoral support as taught by the Bible. 37 churches of the Association were represented.

Special features of the session was the history of the last ten years of the Association by our beloved brother and historian, B. W. Penick, of Greensburg, which is very interesting and will make the minutes of this session of especial value. 2nd that this is the one hundredth anniversary of the visit of Luther Rice to this Association held at Friendship Church, in 1814. Luther Rice was present and made a speech for Foreign Missions and took up a collection of over $114. This was the first Association to contribute to Foreign Missions.

After singing the hymn "God be with you till we meet again," and giving each other the parting hand, the body was adjourned with prayer by Rev. John A. Pierce to meet with the Columbia Church, Columbia, Ky., on the 6th day of October, 1915.

The Executive Board of the Association that was elected at this session is as follows, viz: J. W. Durham, Greensburg, Ky.; Lurad C. Curry, Pierce, Ky.; C. S. Harris, Columbia, Ky.; W. N. McCubbins, Bengal, Ky., and H. S. Robinson, Campbellsville, Ky.

The corn crop this year in the United States is 200,000,000 bushels greater than last year, yet it is now demanding good prices, and there is no immediate prospect of its declining. It is not only a safe proposition to plant a large corn crop next year, but to sow large acreages of wheat and oats, as the European war is likely to continue for a year or more and all kinds of agricultural products in consequence will demand high figures.

PUBLIC SPEAKING: We hope to have with us on this occasion some of the States greatest Educators, who will make addresses.

Fun for the Twins.

Chester and Clarence Irvin, 19-year-old twins, of Edwards, Miss., are the cause of confusion everywhere they go because of their absolute similarity. They are exactly the same height, exactly the same breadth, dress in the same way, have the same expression and carriage, and, too, they are related in such a way that when one suffers from headache or other ailments, the other twin is similarly affected.

In school when one of the boys had been naughty and was kept in during the noon hour the guilty boy would go over to where his brother was sitting and get "mixed up" with the other twin. When the noon hour came the teacher would not know which was which, and no one else in the building would know but Chester and Clarence; but, of course, Chester was generally the guilty twin and would not own up that he was Chester. Clarence would say he was Clarence and was innocent and Chester would still contend that he was Clarence. The teacher was unable, therefore, to administer the punishment, and the boys were laughed out of school.

The climax came the other day when a show came to town and Chester made an engagement to take a young lady to the Opera house that night. Clarence knew of the engagement, and just for fun thought he would get ready before Chester and escort the girl.

Chester got ready at last, and hurried around to the young lady's residence to find she and his brother had gone. She was sorely perplexed when Chester arrived at the Opera house ten minutes later and told her that she had been tricked by his brother.

Apply Sloan's Freely for Lumbago.

Your attacks of Lumbago are not nearly so hopeless as they seem. You can relieve them almost instantly by a simple application of Sloan's Liniment on the back and loins. Lumbago is a form of rheumatism, and yields perfectly to Sloan's, which penetrates quickly all in through the sore, tender muscles, limber up the back and makes it feel fine. Get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment for 25 cents of any druggist and have it in the house--against colds, sore and swollen joints, rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and like ailments. Your money back if not satisfied, but it does give almost instant relief. Sold by Paull Drug Co.

The President's Triumph.

Any policy is entitled to be judged by its results; and by that test the President's Mexican policy is splendidly vindicated. A vagrant war item records that one Victoriano Huerta is marooned in London, presumably awaiting a chance to get into Spain. Little noticed amid bigger distractions, the Constitutionalists took peaceful possessions of the Mexican capital.

The future, perhaps, is anybody's guess; but Huerta is out, and a Government that has some show to restore settled conditions is in, and only a few American lives have been lost. The President and the Secretary of State were rather lonesome in adhering to the policy that has issued in this bloodless fashion; but when they look across at Europe they are entitled to deep satisfaction.

The country is horrified by the European slaughter. Everybody is horrified by war after it begins; yet only a few months ago we heard a great deal about the merits of taking a strong stand with Mexico, asserting our national dignity and the rest of the rigmarole that meant rows of American youths dead or wounded in a trivial cause.--Saturday Evening Post.

The Master Hand.

Fortunately for the country, a master hand is at the helm at Washington. He realizes what neutrality should be, and he will see that it is observed. His wisdom, proven in so many ways--in the repeal of the Panama Canal tolls exemption law, irritating to foreign nations; in the handling of the dangerous Mexican problem; in the pushing through of the Federal currency law, which now prevents any financial stress--the wisdom we may feel sure is still supreme and still for the noble uses of the best interests of the country, no matter what demands may be made upon it.

The few little critics of President Wilson cannot yet resign themselves to a cessation of their snapping at his heels, no matter what he does. They are not significant save as of obedience to partisan orders. The greater critics of recent times have honorably and patriotically admitted their mistake and are giving the President that support in his foreign policy he so richly deserves.

As for the people, who are beyond and above all newspapers and politicians in the power and majesty of their will--they have learned to trust Woodrow Wilson. They trust him now in this delicate problem of neutrality. They know that the master hand is at the helm.--Boston Post (Ind.)

Immediate Cause of War

Every boy and girl should know the cause of the present European war. While the growing hatred between the countries involved dates back many, many years, the immediate cause, or events, which served to plunge several countries into war are these:

It was the assassination of Francis Ferdinand, crown prince of Austria, and his consort, at Sarajevo, Bosnia, on June 28, by a Servian student, Gavric Princip, that plunged the continent of Europe into war.

At the root of the matter lies the immemorial feud between Slav and Teuton. Involved also are the pledges of the triple alliance between Germany, Austria Hungary and Italy, on one side, and between Great Britain, France and Russia, comprising the triple entente, on the other. Just what are these alliances, and how brought about?

In 1879 Germany and Austria formed an alliance for protection against Russia. In 1883, Bismarck strengthened this alliance by the inclusion of Italy. Austria and Germany pledged mutual assistance if attacked by Russia, Italy and Germany if attacked by France. This is the much discussed tripple alliance.

The triple entente is the product of the dual alliance between France and Russia in 1887, and informal understanding between England and France in 1904, and England and Russia in 1907. It was designed by Edward VII to balance the tripple alliance.

In addition to the above factors of the war, we must not overlook the 40 years of hatred between France and Germany, dating from the war of 1870; the growing English jealousy of German naval and commercial growth and ambition of Russia to complete the dismemberment of Turkey and to make of the Black sea a Russian lake.

Study these facts, and when anyone asks what it is all about you will be able to tell them.

Cured by Suggestion.

Mental healing has long been practiced, but Dr. Berillion, of Paris, asserts that psychotherapy is the medicine of the future. He does not put his patients into an hypnotic trance, but places them in an environment which creates the appetite for sleep and invites them to repose on a bed and think of nothing. Then he leaves them. They gradually succumb to the tick-tack of a metronome.

When the patient is in an hypnotic slumber, if its desired that he should be cured of excessive indulgence in alcohol, the psychotherapist suggests to him that he cannot raise a glass of absinthe to his lips, and repeats the suggestion until the prohibition is so engraved on his brain that if he would he could not do so.

Dr. Berillion is frequently consulted by those who wish to be cured of unhappy love passion. Through hypnotism they obtain their release.

Avoid Sedative Cough Medicines.

If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia use cough medicines that contain codeine, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. Any expectorant like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. That cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ diseases. That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It has a world wide reputation for its cures. It contains no morphine or other sedative. The folly of keeping low producing cows should be so apparent that such cows would be shunned as thieves and robbers.

The way to secure a good dairy herd is to breed it and produce it on the farm rather than to depend upon purchases every season.

Memoirs of Napoleon

In Three Volumes

The personal reminiscences of Baron de Méneval, for thirteen years private secretary to Napoleon Bonaparte, bring out, as no history can, many enlightening and interesting side lights on the character of that greatest of leaders. De Méneval's descriptions have the piquancy and interest possible only because he was an actual eyewitness of the scenes and incidents of which he writes. Their reliability and historical interest can be judged by the fact that the very conservative French Academy publicly recommends them.

A German Girl's Love.

Just before the beginning of the war the daughter of a Berlin merchant became engaged to a young German engineer who occupied a prominent position with one of the big electric concerns in Berlin. When hostilities began the young engineer bade his sweetheart good-bye and made haste to join his regiment.

A few days ago the young woman received a short note from her intended scribbled on a piece of paper to the effect that he was slightly wounded and on his way to the Kaiser's capital. A transport of wounded soldiers arrived, among them the young man. The girl was notified of his arrival and hurried to the hospital, where her admirer informed her that his "slight wound" consisted in the loss of one arm, but that he would recover.

The next morning she received a note from him telling her that she did not know the whole truth. He had not only lost one arm, but one leg also, and he could not expect her to marry such a fearfully crippled man; therefore he returned her engagement ring and begged her to forget him.

Within a few hours the girl appeared at the bedside of the wounded man with her father, two witnesses and a minister, who married them, the girl declaring she was satisfied with one-half of the man who had sacrificed the other half for his country.

South American Trade.

There seems to have been an idea generally prevalent that all the United States had to do to gain South American trade was to find out what was purchased from European countries and supply the same articles and commodities. This idea, however, in the light of consular reports and statements of trade agents would appear to be erroneous. Articles and commodities bought from Europe were accepted, not because they met demands so much as because London supplies more satisfactory banking connections.

Investigation of South American trade has already disclosed two important facts: First, that articles and commodities shall more exactly meet South American requirements; and, second, the necessity of the establishment of adequate banking facilities through which to effect exchange. There is no doubt, whatever, that American inventive genius and manufacturing skill can produce desired products; there is question, however, whether or not the United States can become a banker of nations without radical change in its monetary system. In other words the question is whether or not the United States can establish a bank which in its world service will correspond to the Bank of England.

Farmer's Best Friends

W. D. Henson, the State game warden of Tennessee, has issued an interesting statement on the subject, "The Farmer's Best Friends—Birds." The birds, he says, not only protect the orchard, garden, the farm, but they also protect the health of man and beast by destroying the disease carrying insects.

The ordinary bullbat will eat thousands of mosquitoes in one evening and its voracious appetite is constantly calling for more. The "Anopheles," or malaria spreading species of this mosquito, is a great terror to man, but the bullbat is especially fond of them. One bullbat, in destroying these pests, is worth more than a case of quinine and a battle of kerosene. Mr. Wallace says: "As a fever germ abater in a malaria district, a whole flock of bullbats are worth more than a grove of quinine trees."

What is true of the robin, the meadow lark, the dove and the other birds mentioned is also true of a large number of our birds. When the birds decrease the insects and weeds increase; and if all the birds were destroyed it would be impossible for the gardener, the orchardist or the farmer, with all the inventions of the present age, to combat the insects and weeds.

The birds work for the farmer every day in the year and often until far into the night. They charge nothing for their work. They do not even ask him to pay their board. They only ask his friendship. They only ask the farmer for the privilege of destroying his worst and most destructive enemies.—Ex.

Three Miles High.

Roland Garros, the holder of the world's altitude record in aviation, describes what it is like to fly three miles above the surface of the earth.

"I start with a two hours supply of gasoline, an oxygen breathing apparatus and a costume worthy of a polar explorer. The clouds are rather more than 1,000 meters high. I reach them in four minutes, and pass them, through a gap of blue. I rise very quickly. At 3,000 meters I have the impression that I am being driven back from the coast, although my machine is making over 70 miles an hour. From time to time, through a gap in the clouds, I see beneath me a corner of Normandy.

"The motor weakens; there are misfires, which I overcome with more gasoline. I begin to breathe oxygen while counting the beat of my motor. The climb becomes arduous. It is very cold but I am well wrapped up, and do not feel it much.

"Forty-six hundred! I again hold the 'record,' which is the great thing. The machine begins to waver in the air, which seems no longer to support it. The fight against misfires becomes ever more critical. I notice that my supply of oxygen will not last much longer.

"Here is 4,800 meters, the height of Mount Blanc. I have not a mouthful of oxygen left and my motor misfires so frequently that I climb no longer; but I am, as it were, hypnotized by the 5,000 meter line, which is less than two millimeters from the point of the recording pen. I shall stick to it till the motor gives up.

"I try to find a more favorable air-current, and at last the diagram shows again a slight ascent. I climbed 200 meters higher. Breathing is now very difficult, but here is 5,000 meters—I have got it! I mean to get beyond it.

"An alarming shock and a great noise! I am rather astonished not to feel my wings part company from me in the air. With a movement quicker than thought, I cut out my ignition and start planing down. Every turn of the propeller shakes the whole machine violently, and I do what I can to come down slowly in order to spare my wings, which have already been severely tested. Evidently some important piece, probably a valve-rod, is broken—Gradually the vibrations diminish, and at last the propeller sticks fast.

"Thus I glide down with the stay wires whistling more or less shrilly, according to my speed. I am still 4,500 meters up, but I have the conviction that I am out of danger. I pass through the clouds again at 1,500 meters, and see with joy beneath me the most beautiful pasture-land. I have merely to choose where I will land. It would be a mere joke if it were not for the terrible buzzing that I have in my ears for the last five minutes. At last the earth draws near. I am exactly head to wind, and I land in a few yards."

A Healthy Sign.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger, the influential Republican paper in Philadelphia, repudiates the candidacy of Boies Penrose for re-election to the Senate, and has declared in favor of the election of Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer, the Democratic nominee.

Mr. Palmer is a credit to American public life, and there ought not to be any question about his election to the Senate. He has made his record and achieved his reputation on the broad stage of the nation's public life. Every State in the union is interested in the contest this able public servant is making for election to the Senate. The Public Ledger said, among other things, in its editorial to-day:

"A. Mitchell Palmer, the Democratic candidate for United States Senator, is a man of high character and fine ability. While he espouses economic policies to which the Public Ledger does not subscribe, which it believes are not most conducive to the industrial interests of the State, yet he possesses many qualities which are the antitheses of the offensive political ethics represented in Senator Penrose.

"The present is the time when Penroseism and the corrupt political machine of which he is the incarnation should be resolutely smashed, because then the hope of a regenerated and re-inspired Republican party will become an exigent fact."

Dairy Wisdom.

The pure bred cow carries a great possibility of reproduction of the qualities of her ancestors. In her the power of heredity predominates because she is bred for that particular line. Everyone who is interested in dairying is not necessarily a dairyman.

The silo and dairying always go together. The silo when rightly used, will help to make the cows more profitable.

Do Not Delay.

ESKIMO WHALE DANCE.

When Arctic Natives Feast and Pick Their Life Mates.

A very primitive custom of the natives of the Bering and arctic coasts of Siberia, a custom that has come down from generations of savage ancestors, is the annual celebration of the whale dance, when the Eskimos select their wives.

When the sun moves southward at the end of the short summer season and the ice closes up the northern seas the whales come down to open water. Then, in celebration of the season's catch, the ice dwellers assemble for the whale dance, which lasts twenty-one days.

The great dance circle is prepared, and in the center the dancers, both male and female, perform the most savage of evolutions and motions to the accompaniment of rhythmic beating of the tomtoms and weird chanting. The dance songs tell of the prowess of the hunters and of the history of the tribe. The movements of the women are surprisingly graceful, and they mean to show in their dance that, as daughters of a great people, they are possessed of all the qualities such women should have. The men execute pantomimic scenes of the hunt and go through all the motions of the kill. They spear the bear, slay the walrus and seal and finally, with extraordinary contortions, vanquish the mighty whale.

During the last days of the feast, when the time arrives for the selection of husbands and wives, the man performs his mate dance before the woman he has picked out. In pantomime he promises to provide her generously with the fruit of the hunt, both food and fur. If she is pleased with him she walks out and dances her acceptance and shows how she will look after the igloo. When they have danced before each other they are married after the custom of the tribe, and he leads her off to his walrus nose lodge.

During the dance they feast on whale. The skin of the baleen whale is about an inch thick and looks like rubber. The solid blubber between it and the true flesh is usually about fourteen inches thick. The black skin and the blubber, the latter cut to the thickness of the former, is called muktuk and is considered a great delicacy. It is eaten raw and, although it sounds repulsive to the civilized ear, is most palatable. It has a flavor something like that of chestnuts.—Youth's Companion.

Prime Numbers.

It might appear at first that every number can be divided by some number besides itself and one; but many numbers cannot, and if they cannot they are known as prime numbers. Of all the numbers having a value of less than 1,000, there are 169 that are prime. Of these twenty-six are smaller than 100, twenty-one appear between 100 and 200, sixteen between 200 and 300, sixteen between 300 and 400, sixteen between 400 and 500, sixteen between 500 and 600, sixteen between 600 and 700, fourteen between 700 and 800, fifteen between 800 and 900 and fourteen between 900 and 1,000.

His Vacation.

A woman had a negro cleaning the yard for her. His wife had been dead for several years. So his employer seized a favorable moment and proceeded to sound him.

"John," she said, "you're a good, steady man. Lots of women would be glad to have you. Why don't you get a wife?"

John leaned on his rake and scratched his head reflectively.

"Well, I tell you," he replied, "You know I was married seven years, an' I've got to have a rest."—Indianapolis News.

The Price of a Kid.

Cordova is full of fun, says C. Bogue Luffmann in his "Quiet Days in Spain," and in the leisurely pace of life there the observer has time to see and appreciate all of it.

In the market one day a small boy with a big apron and a pious manner was offering half of a small kid to a woman for a peseta. She objected that it was very tiny, and he fairly smothered her with: "Woman! Do you want half a bull for a tenpence?"

Which?

Is woman more interesting than man, or the reverse? Man varies more. He has more genius in exceptional individuals, and less of genius-like insight in the average person. He completes; woman endures. He builds externally, she at home. He fights; she preserves. Our worthless opinion is that men are more interesting than women, but that woman is more interesting than man.—Harper's Weekly.

Natural Objection.

"Why won't that rich old crumdegeon let his young wife act in amateur theatricals?"

"Because the last time she took part everybody raved about the way she acted a merry widow part."—Baltimore American.

"Some have greatness thrust upon them."

"I know. They blunder accidentally into a film."—Kansas City Journal.

A Compromise.

Fond Hubby (starting down town): "What will it be, love—flowers or candy?" Wife: "We'll compromise, dear. You can send both."—Judge.

Nothing is possible to him who is always dreaming of his past possibilities.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For U. S. Senator—Long Term—
HON. J. C. W. BECKHAM, of Franklin County.

For U. S. Senator—Short Term—
HON. J. N. CAMDEN, of Woodford County.

For Congress—
HON. HARVEY HELM, of Lincoln County.

For Judge Court of Appeals—
HON. ROLLIN HURT, of Adair County.

Attorney General James Garnett stopped over in Louisville yesterday on his return to Frankfort from Western Kentucky, he having made campaign speeches Monday at Morganfield and Sturgis, Union county. He said he found the Democrats down there thoroughly united and enthusiastic for party success in November. Gen. Garnett, when asked about his intentions with regard to the gubernatorial nomination next year, with which his name has often been connected, said that it was too early yet to commit himself and that the present contest should be gotten out of the way first. He admitted that he was pursuing a policy of "watchful waiting" and he left the impression that when the race is made up the Attorney General would be a most likely starter.—W. S. K. in Louisville Times the 7th.

Eighteen days until the November election. In order to get out a full vote for the Democratic ticket it is necessary for every party man to become busy, and talk election from now until it is over. Judge Hurt and the entire ticket should poll a very large vote, but in order to bring about that result, it is important that every friend do his part in getting supporters to the polls. If you know a voter who sometimes remains at home in important contests, urge him to come out Tuesday, the 3d of November.

Antwerp and the forts surrounding the city, after having been subjected to violent bombardment for ten days, are now in complete possession of the Germans. The greater part of the Belgian army escaped. Every fort goes down under fire of the German big guns. The Allies are confident that they will win in the end.

Do not forget the importance of voting for Judge Hurt at the coming election. His friends are anxious that he receive a large majority in Adair county.

Judge Rollin Hurt's friends of Adair county should remember that it is important for every one of them to vote. Do not let a business engagement keep a voter from the polls. Judge Hurt and his friends will appreciate every effort made between now and the election in his behalf. He is your home candidate and every body is proud of his record as a citizen. By honoring him you honor the county of Adair; therefore, we urge every friend who wants to see Judge Hurt realize the ambition of his life, to become active and so remain until the contest is settled. He is recognized as one of the able attorneys of the State, and there is not a doubt but he would fill the position of Judge of the Court of Appeals in an able and most creditable manner.

Miss Marian Williamson, who has been investigating health conditions in Mercer county for the Kentucky Tuberculosis Commission in cooperation with the Woman's Club of Harrodsburg, has found 60 cases of tuberculosis, and has lectured to several thousand people in the last six weeks. As a result of her discoveries $600 has been appropriated by the Fiscal Court for the establishment of permanent visiting nurse service. It is expected that the balance necessary will be soon obtained from other sources. Miss Emma Hunt has been doing similar work in Anderson county. The Pierian Club of Lawrenceburg has recently made a second appropriation of $100 for the work, and permanent nursing work will doubtless be established there. The moving picture work of the State Commission has been shown during September at 19 points in Mercer, Anderson, Jessamine, Fayette, Garrard and Scott counties to 7,400 people.

Gradyville.

We have had plenty of rain for the past few days.

J. H. Smith returned from the Blue Grass region the first of the week.

The Adair County Spoke Co., closed out their present stock last Saturday. They are now on the market for more material.

Quite a number of the school children, from this part of the county, attended the school rally at Antioch last Saturday.

Mr. Allen Rose, the popular merchant of Keltner, was in our midst last Friday, and reports business very good in his section.

Dr. S. Simmons spent last Friday in Columbia on business.

Uncle Charlie Yates' condition does not improve very fast at the present.

W. L. Grady spent last Monday in Greensburg on business.

Mr. Gene Wethington, of Clements, spent a day or so here the first of the week looking after his spoke business.

Messrs. Ed Caldwell, of Glasgow, and Robert Reed, of Columbia, spent a day or so here last week looking after Life Insurance and did a fine business.

Mr. Alfred Parson and family spent last Sunday at Portland, by the bedside of his father, who has been in a critical condition for several months.

Mr. P. Bardin, of Greensburg, has been here several days looking after his stove business. We understand he has quite a lot of timber in this section.

Mrs. John Bell, of Nell, spent a few days of last week in this community visiting relatives.

Messrs. Reece & Burris, our produce men, make our town regularly every week and pay the market price for produce and they are very well supplied each week from our merchants.

Messrs. Norman Morrison and Olie Willis, who have been with us for the past five months, working with the Adair County Spoke Co., returned to their home at Columbia last Saturday.

James and Charles Diddle are seeing after their farming interest on their farm in Logan county at this time.

H. A. Walker, of Columbia, was here one day last week on business.

Mr. Arthur Curry, one of our best citizens, was on the sick list a few days of last week.

Our farmers have been very busy for the past week or so making sorghum, sowing wheat cutting corn and tobacco. We are glad to say that we have a bountiful yield from all the various products of the soil.

Mrs. Frank Furkin, of Weed, spent several days of last week visiting her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Curry, of our town.

Mr. Blakey Dulin attended the Russell Creek Association that convened in Green county last week.

Mr. Geo. Whitlock, the popular groceryman, of Campbellsville, was calling on our merchants last week.

From North Carolina.

Lattimore, Oct. 3, 1914.

Editor News:—

As some people in Columbia are aware, I left that place in July of this year, in very bad health. At present I am troubled with indigestion and rheumatism, so it will be seen I am in no plight to enter the European war.

I was an infant during prevalence of Civil war, not feeling well when a call was made for Spanish-American conflict; and have not improved any as the years go by.

My friend, George Hurt, of huckster fame, claims that some men drawing pensions for disabilities received in the Civil war, did not go far enough to "get lousy;" and I belong to that class.

As stated in a former communication, one of the keen regrets of my life was the unavoidable illness that prevented my being allowed to teach school there according to arrangement. However, my son, my daughter and I will all teach here, and hence the good work will go on.

My work will be near historic Kings Mountain, where I taught twelve years ago. This was the battle in which Isaac Shelby, first governor of Kentucky, with his compatriots, Campbell, Sevin and Cleveland, vanquished forces of Col. Patrick Furgerson, the intrepid commander of 1,200 British regulars and Tories.

While few men were engaged in the struggle, it was an important victory for American cause, and showed what good marksmen, who are determined men, can do when confronting trained regulars. The "mountain men," who composed the American contingent were from Virginia, what is now Kentucky and Tennessee and the Carolinas.

Incidentally, allow me to here note the fact that marksmanship is a great factor in war, as is shown in the battles of King's Mountain and New Orleans. The "mountain men" were armed with a rifle made at Lancaster, Pa., and were among the best marksmen in the world. Jackson's men were of the same type, and with their old hair trigger rifles mowed down 2,600 men who had fought Napoleon the Great, while Jackson lost less than twenty men.

It is both disgusting and amusing to hear the dire predictions made by wiseacres as to outcome of European war.

Germany will come over and grab our territory. Japan will send over a boat load of mulattoes, armed with bows and arrows, who will take the Panama Canal etc. While I deplore the present war, and while it has hammered down the price of cotton and hammered up the price of living, till it means hard times in the South, I am not uneasy about Japan trying to do something that will wipe the yellow rascals off the map. The most prolix talkers here, are the fifteen dollar drummers who visit the cross roads merchants. They know more about war than Napoleon or Bismark ever knew, can lay out Hamilton, Carnegie or Rockefeller on finance; and know more theology than was ever dreamed of by Beecher or Talmage; and have Bryan, Roosevelt, and Wilson skinned on statecraft. They don't know whether Germany, England, Austria-Hungary and Russia are in Africa or Asia, and think all are in the Torrid Zone. Hence they raise all the coffee, sugar, rice, polar bears, sea lions, seals; have all the coal, iron, niter; make all the guns, battleships, and are liable at any time, to come on here and help Mexico take the "Newnited States."

War puts every fool to talking, and the less he knows of history or Geography, the more his tongue wags—fifteen times to where his brain moves once. Last year cotton was 14c, now it is 7½ cents. It costs 10 cents to raise it, hence the Southern farmer is on a tidal wave of prosperity. Melvin L. White.

Comet in View.

Delavan's comet is now visible to the naked eye and will remain visible throughout the month of October. It may be seen about ten o'clock on clear nights at a point almost directly below the Pole star. At that time the comet is low in the sky. As the night wanes the comet rises higher in the heavens, and in the early morning, between 2 and 4 o'clock, it reaches its greatest altitude above the horizon. Then, it is said, is the best time to observe the comet.

Moonlight Schools.

Fellow teacher, let us heed Supt. Huffaker's earnest appeal to extend the term of our moonlight schools. I realized the need of a longer term before my first term closed and resolved to extend the time, for no matter how well you may succeed you cannot accomplish in twelve nights the work that should be done. This is a noble work, one that appeals to me. Let us enter upon it with a sincere desire to benefit humanity and a determination to succeed. I began my first term Sept., 14th. There were forty-four present, twelve of them being illiterates. The interest increased and there was an average attendance of sixty-one for the term, with twenty-two illiterates enrolled. I received the hearty cooperation of the people of the community and was assisted in the work by different ones. There seems to be quite an educational interest aroused and I don't know when I'll close my Moonlight School.

And now in conclusion let me say to my fellow teachers if you have never learned the lesson intended to be taught by "The Master Teacher" when he said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive" try teaching a Moonlight School. Enter into it with hearty good will a sincere desire to succeed putting forth a faithful, earnest effort and you will get genuine pleasure out of the work. Mrs. W. L. Russell.

Until further notice, we will pay the following prices for SPLIT HICKORY and OAK SPOKES, delivered on our yard at Columbia, Adair Co., Ky.

Split Hickory Spokes 30 in. Long.

Price Per M. Pieces
On Heart	Depth	Length	A & B	C D
1 1/2 in x	1 1/2 in	26 in	$12.00	$ 6.00 $ 6.00
1 1/2 in x	2 in	30 in	15.00	8.00 6.00
1 1/2 in x	2 in	26 in	14.00	7.00 5.00
2 1/2 in x	2 1/2 in	26 in	25.00	12.00 8.00

All Spokes must be split from good live, straight grained, Black or Shell Bark Hickory. Spokes that are brash, also containing defects such as worm holes, knots, bird pecks, wind shakes, sun checks, short crooks will be classed as culls.

All spokes too small for 1 1/2 x 1 1/2 x 26 in. long will be classed at the price of "C" grade of this size or culled.

Split 2nd. Growth W. Oak Spokes 30 in. Long.

Price Per M. Pieces.
On Heart	Depth	Length	A & B	C
2 1/2 in x	3 in	30 in	$20.00	$12.00
3 in x	3 1/2 in	30 in	40.00	20.00

The A and B Grade in Second Growth White Oak Spokes will admit of one-third or less sap timber in sizes 2 x 3 in. and larger, if the spokes are free from all other defects, tough and heavy.

The C grade takes in Spokes that are more than one-third sap timber. Both grades must be split from Second Growth White Oak, showing a good growth. Don't split Brash Timber into Spokes, as we can not use them. Spokes that are brash, also pieces containing worm holes, knots, sun checks and short crooks will be classed as culls.

All Oak Spokes must be 30 in. long. For further particulars call on or address, Curious Coins.

One of the most curious coins in the world is the Yap dollar. It is used in the island of Yap, one of the Caroline Islands, in the South Pacific. It is not coined as we understand the meaning of the word, but instead is simply quarried. As to weight, it is probably the heaviest dollar in the world, as each one is a little more than two feet in diameter, and tips the scales at a trifle more than 75 pounds.

On this island are tribes whose chiefs have the monopoly on this strange money; their great pride is in the display of their wealth, so that every little while they send their slaves to quarry a few more dollars. These are strung on poles in front of their huts, and there is always excitement when a report comes in that one chief has more wealth "in sight" than his most bitter rival.

"Do you think," asked a woman the other day, "bald-headed men or men with hair make the best husbands?" This somewhat startling question, at first appearing foolish, provoked serious thought and valuable discussion. Giving her own experience, the woman said: "Some men I know who have heavy heads of hair are very vain and conceited. One especially, I remember who had a fine head of curly hair, in which he took much pride, but he was false and as full of conceit as a peacock. My father, now dead, went bald in the early twenties; I have heard my mother say he wore a wig for a time. That I don't remember, but I know he was one of the best husbands and fathers that wife or child could wish. When I meet with one such as he I shall have reached the height of my ambition."

When Cost is High.

In these days when the head of the family is fretting because of the high cost of the necessities of life, the following which comes from Sedalia, Missouri, will be of interest:

A bill of Brandt & Bro., grocers, dated July 3, 1869, was found today by Peter Brandt, and is of unusual interest because of the recent increase in the prices of foodstuffs. In July, 1869, these charges were made:

Peck of potatoes, 40 cents; five pounds of sugar, $1.00; two pound of rice, 30 cents; pound raisins, 35 cents; four dozen eggs, 80 cents; two glasses of jelly, 70 cents; three and one-quarter pounds of coffee, $1.00; half peck of green apples, 20 cents; half gallon of green peas, 25 cents; pound of lard, 25 cents; pound of butter, 30 cents; half dozen ears of corn, 10 cents; 6 bars of soap, 60 cents; pound of starch, 15 cents; bottle of bluing, 10 cents; bottle extract of lemon, 25 cents; five chickens, $1.15; one ham, $2.60; box of lye, 30 cents.

Man-Eating Fish.

Theodore Roosevelt tells some wonderful stories about his recent South American trip.

During his recent lecture, at a meeting of the Royal Geographical society, he related that he came across one kind of fish no larger than a trout, that bit off one of his party's little toes, took a piece out of another man's leg and the tips off two dogs tails—a fitting companion, apparently, to the fish that went bird-nesting, drove the mother bird away and was found wagging its tail over the edge of the nest while gobbling up the eggs.

Mr. Roosevelt also mentioned another fish—a nine-foot catfish—which was found with a monkey inside it. The fish, it appears, had jumped and caught the monkey when it had climbed down a branch to drink. Very extraordinary, too, is a horrible deep-sea angler fish, exhibited at the Royal society recently. The mouth of this fish is so large and its stomach so distensive, that it can swallow other fish three times its own length. Fortunately, it lives several hundred fathoms below the surface of the water. It hangs over its snout a line and bait that shine like a glow-worm and attract many inquisitive fish.

The Call of the Farm.

There never was a time in the history of our country when agriculture was as inviting as it is today, when brains and brawn would bring as satisfactory results from the farm.

With the trades and professions in cities greatly overcrowded, the farm becomes more and more the bright and beckoning star of hope to millions of young men.

Surplus energy of the cities would do well to turn its attention to the farm, and the wise youth of the country will stay right where he is—where opportunity is always before him.

Keep your eye upon the green fields of the country, for there is no better place.

How to be Certain of Curing Constipation

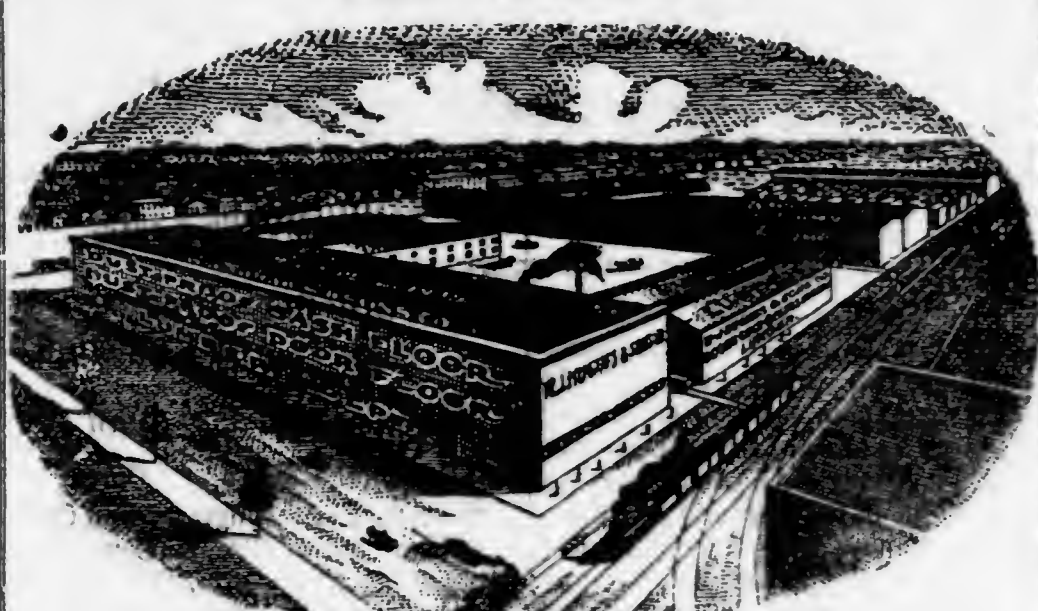

Prejudice is a hard thing to overcome, but where health is at stake and the opinion of thousands of reliable people differs from yours, prejudice then becomes your menace and you ought to lay it aside. This is said in the interest of people suffering from chronic constipation, and it is worthy of their attention.

In the opinion of legions of reliable American people the most stubborn constipation imaginable can be cured by a brief use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You may not have heard of it before, but do not doubt its merits on that account, or because it has not been blatantly advertised. It has sold very successfully on word of mouth recommendation. Parents are giving it to their children today who were given it by their parents, and it has been truthfully said that more druggists use it personally in their families than any other laxative.

Letters recently received from M. E. Myers, Morrison, Tenn., and Ada Hamersmith, 118 W. Chestnut St., Louisville, Ky., are but a few of thousands showing the esteem in which Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is held. It is mild, gentle, non-gripping—not violent, like salts or cathartics. It cures gradually and pleasantly so that in time nature again does its own work without outside aid. Constipated people owe it to themselves to use this grand bowel specific.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. E. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

Sad Killing.

A shadow of gloom was cast over Horse Cave last evening about 5 o'clock when Jessie Jordan, twelve-year-old daughter of Mrs. D. Spences, was accidentally killed by the discharge of a single barrel shot gun in the hands of Marshall Eubank, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Eubank, while playing in the residence of Mr. Eubank, on Water street, in Horse Cave.

The two little children, together with a sister of the Eubank boy, were playing war in the house, where the Jordan child had come from her home near town to stay for the fair, and the boy, unaware of the gun being loaded, pointed it at the little victim in play, the entire load taking effect in the front part of the neck. The little girl's mother was in an adjoining room and hearing the shot ran to the child and caught her in her arms, the child dying instantly.

Mr. Eubank stated that the gun was not usually loaded but that he loaded it a few nights ago when the town was visited by robbers and failed to unload same.

The remains were taken to Knob Lick for interment.—Hart County Herald.

Fruit Waste to be Saved.

Fruit growers of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana will meet in Spokane on Nov., 19 for the purpose of establishing a co-operative organization for the utilization of waste fruits of the Pacific Northwest, by manufacturing by-products on a large scale. Those who are directing the preliminary work of the proposed organization are proceeding along two lines.

First, to promote the healthy growth of canning, evaporating and otherwise treating fruits that ordinarily are wasted, and second, to assist in opening up markets for such products. Only about 60 per cent. of the fruit crop of the northwest marketed, the remaining 40 per cent., being wasted.

The Panama canal has reduced the rate on dried fruit to the Atlantic seaboard from 85 to 32 cents and on canned fruit from $1 to 40 cents per hundred. This will lend great impetus to the by-product business.

Girls Save Children.

Not long ago there was an explosion in a tailor shop located on the first floor of a Boston tenement house. The house was set on fire, and two girls, Mary Doherty and Anna McGahan, proved themselves heroines by saving the lives of several children and their frightened mothers. Mary Doherty was visiting the mother of a family of six, with rooms on the second floor. At the sound of the explosion, the mother picked up the two younger children and started down the stairs, calling to the others to follow her. But the little ones were too frightened to obey, and it was left to Mary to marshal them down the stairs in good order.

Anna McGahan had dropped in to spend the afternoon with her aunt, who has four little folks, living on the fourth floor of the building. By the time they discovered the fire it was too late to leave by the door, and Anna started her four cousins to the roof. On the way she stopped to pick up a family of nine children with their frightened mother. By the time they reached the roof, the smoking was blinding, but the girl heroine kept her head and got all her charges safely across to the roof of the next building, the owner of which was waiting to show them the way down.

The Truce of Patriotism.

President Wilson's appeal to both sides in the Colorado fuel strike will be unreservedly endorsed and mentally signed by millions of thoughtful Americans. Many are asking themselves, no doubt, why the appeal has been so long in coming. The answer probably is that the "tentative basis for the adjustment of the strike" had to be worked out carefully, and that the President has had other important things to keep his mind and pen usually busy.

In effect the appeal is for a truce of patriotism. This is no time for stubborn and selfish insistence on legal rights or punctilio. No sacrifice of principle is demanded of either side. The tentative basis seems in every way reasonable and fair. Its rejection would produce a most painful impression.

Let us not forget that a great railroad strike was averted a few weeks ago by an appeal to the public spirit of the carriers. An example was then given which

To Get Good Seed Corn.

There are a few rules following by which R. A. Moore, Secretary of the Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment Association, in the selection of seed corn.

First.—Allow the ears to mature well on the stalk.

Second.—Select the ears from promising stalks that are leafy, of medium size and which carry one good ear attached about three feet from the ground.

Third.—Select only well formed ears with plump, deep kernels and good tips and butts.

Fourth.—Avoid ears with long or short shanks or those attached to poorly formed stalks.

When taken from the stalk corn usually contains from 20 to 30 per cent. of water. The most convenient way of ridding the corn of this excessive moisture is by the use of artificial heat, and the corn should be well dried out before it is stored away for the winter.

Corn should never be placed against the south side of a building in the strong sunlight, as the direct rays of the sun will soon injure the vitality of the seed. If corn is cured by hanging under a porch or under the roof of a corn crib it should be stored away before freezing weather sets in, in a dry room where it will not take in moisture from the outside air.

GIGANTIC FORCES IN DEATH GRIP.

Paris, Oct. 8, (3:15, p. m.).—The following official announcement was made in Paris this afternoon:

"First—On our left wing, in the region of the Department of Nord, the enemy has made progress at no point. At certain points he has moved back, particularly to the north of Arras, where the fighting is developing under conditions favorable for us. The operations of the opposing forces of cavalry are developing at the present time almost as far as the sea coast on the north.

"Between the Somme and the Oise, in the vicinity of Roye, the enemy is still in force; but we have retaken the major part of the position we were obliged to give up.

"To the north of the Aisne the numerical strength of the German troops seems to have diminished.

"Second—On the center, between Rheims and the Meuse, there is nothing to report. On the heights of the Meuse, between Verdun and St. Mihiel, the enemy has drawn back to the north of Battonchatel. He still holds St. Mihiel and some positions to the north of Mihiel on the right bank of the Meuse.

"In the Woëver district the violent attacks delivered by the enemy to the west of Aprement have failed.

"On our right wing, Lorraine and the Vosges, there has been no change. In Russia, along the front of East Prussia, the Russian offensive continues. Very spirited fighting is taking place on the frontier of the west of Suwalki."

London, Oct. 8, (11:30, a. m.).—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Ostend, filed Tuesday, but delayed in transmission, says:

"Fierce fighting has taken place for two days around Lille, where French troops came into contact with the enemy, who sustained heavy losses. German batteries fired on the station, the prefecture and other buildings. The masterpieces in the museum have already been removed to a place of safety.

"In the fierce fighting the Germans lost more than 2,000 men, and up to this morning they had not succeeded in occupying the town of Lille."

London, Oct. 8, (4:08, a. m.).—The Mail's Ostend correspondent telegraphs that on Tuesday German troops were being transferred through Belgium to strengthen the attack on the Allies' left. The tide of battle, says the correspondent, rolls fiercely in from Arras to Lens and beyond.

Douai, which was attacked by the Germans fifteen days ago, was captured on Thursday last. All small villages in the vicinity, were utterly destroyed.

On the Battle Front, Oct. 7, (via Paris, Oct. 8, 12:11, a. m.).—The fiercest fighting which has marked the conflict in the French theater of war has taken place since Monday on the western wing of the allied armies. New forces of German cavalry and infantry which have appeared in front of the Allies' lines have used every resource and every effort to attain success. They have thrown themselves again and again at the French and British, who have brought equally strong bodies of troops forward to oppose them.

The battle is no longer one of machine-like strategy of two armies, but a contest centering in the powers of endurance of two bodies of human beings, each as determined as the other not to give up the struggle before victory is achieved. Here and there the lines have faltered one way or the other under the shock, but again have tightened up and become firm.

At one point the German cavalry even succeeded in breaking through the allied lines at a place which must remain undisclosed, but not in sufficient strength to make their feat of appreciable importance. The retirement of the Allies was, however, fully in accordance with the plans of the general staff. The breach in the line was at an acute angle and the Germans were placed in a very precarious position from which they were ousted with great loss in the day. All through last night and to-day the fight proceeded, continuing until this evening, when a period of calm set in.

Never perhaps, in military annals have so many men come to close grips with cold steel and kept up the struggle so long. On both sides many remarkable instances have been recorded of daring bravery, and the French and British troops, who themselves showed unparalleled coolness and courage, without exception, when the fury of the battle died down expressed admiration for the fearlessness of their German opponents.

The terrific nature of the fighting may be seen from this fact. "One company of French infantry started the war with 190 men and a full complement of officers. Since then it has received drafts bringing the total up to 324. To-day the company is composed of ninety men, commanded by a Sergeant, all the higher officers having disappeared."

The heroic self-sacrifice shown by wounded men is exemplified in the reply of a British soldier who greeted a comrade, coming to his assistance, with: "Hike off. I'm no good any more."

An official announcement made known to-day for the first time the vast numbers of the German forces fighting against the Allies in Belgium and France. They are composed of no fewer than twenty-three army corps of the active German army, eighteen army corps of reserves, several divisions of the landwehr and large detachments of the landsturm. Under normal conditions this number of units make a grand total of nearly 2,000,000 men. From this total, however, losses must be deducted. The number of Allies' facing the Germans has not been made public, but it is known to be very large.

ABANDONED FLAG FOUND.

In an abandoned German trench opposite the English line, unvisited since September 15, was found to-day a German regimental flag beneath a great heap of dead. The emblem was taken to the headquarters of the British Field Marshal, Sir John French.

It is generally expected that to-morrow (Thursday,) the fighting on the western wing will have extended to Belgian soil, as the cavalry of both armies are operating with incredible swiftness.

GERMANS' RE-ENFORCEMENTS NUMBERLESS.

London, Oct. 7, (10:15, p. m.).—The Germans have again displayed their resourcefulness by simultaneously bringing up strong re-inforcements to the assistance of their much-harried right wing in Northern France and by pushing their attack on Antwerp, from which place the Belgian Government is reported to have removed to-day, going to Ostend.

There is yet no confirmation of the transfer of the Belgian seat of Government, which would be the second move since the opening of the war, but an Amsterdam paper states that such a decision was taken to-day and an Ostend dispatch says that some of the Ministers have already arrived there. Besides, the British official report records that the Germans have pushed forward their positions against the stout resistance of the Antwerp garrison.

This of course does not mean that the fortress has fallen or is about to fall, for the garrison, behind the ring of forts, is still able to put up a hard fight against the further advance of the invaders. It probably does not mean, however, that the big German guns are now in such positions that they are able to reach the city itself with their shells. The population, it is stated, has begun to leave for Holland.

ALLIES' SITUATION GOOD.

Thus far the reports of the fighting, says the British Official Bureau, are "generally satisfactory and the French army is fighting with great dash and bravery."

Between the Somme and the Meuse the two entrenched armies are still awaiting for development on the wings, on one of which, that extending into the Woëver districts, the French claim to have repulsed fresh efforts of the Germans to oppose the progress of the Allies. For once the accounts of the Germans and Allies agree except that the latest obtainable German report, issued last evening, does not mention the repulse of their attacks on the French right in Woëver.

This cannot be said of the Russian, German and Austrian reports of actions in the eastern theatre of operations. The advance guards of the two armies in Southern Poland have come into contact, and both claim the victory. In the first skirmish the Vienna General Staff says the Austro German army invading Poland from Cracow forced the Russians to retreat from Opatow and Klinontow and is now starting to force them to retreat from the River Duna.

GERMAN FLYERS DROP BOMBS.

Paris, Oct. 8, (12:55, p. m.).—A German aeroplane flying over Paris and the suburbs of Aubervilliers and Saint Denis at 9 o'clock this morning dropped two bombs, one of which wounded three persons. The other did no harm.

Hostile aircraft have usually avoided Paris and vicinity early in the day because of the dangerous atmospheric currents then present. The French troops stationed in the city and suburbs have been commanded not to fire upon the aeroplanes because of the danger to the public from falling bullets.

IMPORTANT WAR INCIDENT.

London, Oct. 8 (8:48 a. m.).—The Canadian troops, it is announced, arrived in home waters to-day.

Paris, Oct. 8.—The British troops undermined the German entrenchments near Soissons and blew them up with dynamite. Five hundred Germans were killed.

London, Oct. 8 (4:46 a. m.).—The correspondent of the Times at Rotterdam confirms the report that there are 100,000 fugitives from Antwerp in Holland.

London, Oct. 8.—An Amsterdam dispatch to the Reuter Telegram Company says:

"Among the refugees who left Antwerp this morning were Cardinal Mercier and the Minister of Justice and other high officials. They traveled by automobile to Flushing, from which point they proceeded to Ostend.

"More than 10,000 fugitives have arrived at Rozendaal, at which place the bombardment of Antwerp can clearly be heard.

WAR NEWS AT A GLANCE.

The fate of the Belgian army is a striking feature of the day's war news. Since the withdrawal of the Government from Brussels to Antwerp, the entire fighting force of the little kingdom has been concentrated in or about the latter city. And now the fall of Antwerp before the German guns that reduced the forts of Liege and Namur is gravely threatened.

Advices from neutral sources confirm heretofore disputed German claims that they have broken through the outer circle of fortifications, crossed the River Nethe and brought their big guns within range of the city proper.

The Belgian Government has been transferred to Ostend, the populace is fleeing into Holland and flags of mercy are flying from the steeples of churches to indicate that these structures if spared will not be utilized in the desperate defense that the garrison is expected to make.

If the city falls the Belgian army has the alternative, barring surrender of attempting to fight its way through a German infested country in order to effect a juncture with the Allies, of retreating into Holland there to be interned until the war ends. The latter course would eliminate Belgium as a factor in the great struggle.

For days Antwerp has been holding out in the hope that the left wing of the Allies would swing around in time to save the city. Recent reports from the battle line have made it plain that succor from this source was extremely doubtful.

It is believed that the bombardment of Antwerp began today after a demand for the surrender of the city had been refused.

Little change on the battle line in the north of France is indicated in the afternoon statement of the French War Office. It says that on the French left wing the Germans have made no progress, while at certain points they have moved back. On the right wing there is no change, it is said. The situation on the center remains much the same. Violent attacks in the Woëver district have been repulsed, it is stated, but no details of the fighting are given.

According to the French statement the Russian offensives continue along the front of East Prussia.

A wireless dispatch from Berlin says that the papers there report that the British and Japanese attacks upon Tsing Tau have been repulsed.

Tokio announces officially that the German fire from Tsing Tau is slackening. The Japanese Government, says a dispatch from Tokio, has issued no public statement regarding the taking of the German island of Jaluit in the Pacific, but the official explains that Japan's assurances that she does not seek territorial aggrandizement must not be interpreted as meaning that she will not take steps for the protection of commerce.

The report widely circulated from sources hostile to Germany that Emperor William has removed Gen. von Moltke as chief of the general staff, is proved untrue by reports from neutral quarters.

A German aeroplane visited Paris to-day, dropping two bombs, one of which wounded three persons.

Vienna claims that the Russians have been driven out of Hungary. The Russian Ambassador at Rome replies that the Russians occupy one-fifth of Hungary as well as seven-eighths of Galicia.

A development of the war situation is an apparent mild relaxation in the censorship at Berlin. From the beginning the Germans censors have been most exacting in the performance of their duty but for the past day or two they seem to have permitted the correspondents a little wider latitude.

It is announced in London that Canadian troops arrived in the British Isles to-day.
